

Hyattsville Aging in Place Services During Covid-19 Outbreak

HAP is concerned about how to continue serving seniors in Hyattsville while making sure that they and the HAP volunteers that serve them remain safe in this stressful and difficult time. We hope that restrictions will not continue indefinitely but for now we believe that maintaining social distance is critically important. Here is what we've decided:

- Until further notice, HAP will no longer be driving members to the doctor, grocery stores or other locations.
- Neighbors needing transportation for essential appointments should contact the HAP office (301-887-3101 ^S or hapcares@gmail.com) for information about other sources of transportation.
- All HAP programs for March, April and May have been postponed. New dates will be announced when available and HAP is exploring other forms of online and telephonic programs.
- Until it's safe to resume normal activities, HAP's services will be limited to delivering groceries and other supplies, to telephone check-in with Neighbors through the HAP phone tree, and to information and referral through the HAP office. Neighbors who need delivery service, want to be included on the telephone list or have questions about other available services should contact the HAP office at 301-887-3101 or hapcares@gmail.com

If you know of seniors that may need delivery help or who may want to volunteer, please send us their names or have them go to the HAP website (HyattsvilleAginginPlace.org), hapcares@gmail.com to sign up or call the HAP office at 301 887 3101.
